

External and Internal Redecorations

Gipsy Moth Pub, Greenwich, South East London

Highlights

Axis was the principal contractor for refurbishments to The Gipsy Moth, a landmark pub in South East London, to start off our new Pubs and Leisure portfolio.

We redecorated the front and side elevations of the building. With great attention to detail, paint was applied to external masonry, woodwork and metalwork to match existing colours. Prior to redecoration, surfaces had to be repaired and/or sanded down in order to ensure a smooth and high-quality finish.

Because the pub is within Maritime Greenwich, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, high numbers of tourists and pedestrians were close to the work area. To accommodate for this, Axis worked from full access scaffolding and deployed barriers to prevent the public from coming into contact with the site.

Work was undertaken out-of-hours in order that the pub could remain open for summer drinkers.

6 weeks duration

Internally, Axis improved WC areas, redecorating twelve cubicles, ceilings and walls, doors and frames and replacing concealed cisterns. We also conducted minor electrical works, providing and fitting lights in the Gents toilets.

In the kitchen area, we repaired defects in walls, ceilings and floor tiles before fully redecorating the space.

We redecorated the bar and dining area, using heritage restoration techniques on woodwork, timber flooring and columns.
